Who are the Brazilian Student Ambassadors?

The Brazilian Student Ambassadors are Brazilian Students at Harvard selected to work in coordination with the Harvard University DRCLAS Brazil Studies Program in Cambridge, and Harvard's Brazil Office in São Paulo. Together, they facilitate coordination across Harvard Schools and help deepen Brazil-Harvard engagement within the University and throughout Brazil. Student Ambassadors support outreach efforts and strengthen resources available to faculty, students and staff, by helping to:

- Identify and support faculty and students interested in Brazil;
- Mentor potential applicants, admitted students, and current students;
- Host Brazilian visitors;
- Identify opportunities for Visiting Scholars and researchers from Brazil.
